In Circuit Court murder trial

Several clues link Ladner to crime, state says

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Testimony in the capital murder trial of Jeffrey Joseph Ladner, 30, will continue today in the Hancock County Courthouse.
Ladner is charged with capital murder in the shooting deaths of Jeannette Holden and Dorothy G. Tassin of Hancock County last November and is on trial for Holden's death.
Jury selection was completed early Wednesday morning and the trial got underway with an opening statement by Prosecutor Jay Golden of the District Attorney's Office.
Golden told the 10 women, two men jury this is a very interesting case, kind of like a crossword puzzle.
"There are a number of clues to link the defendant and him alone to the scene of the crime," Golden said.

The state is going to provide evidence and testimony to show Ladner went and picked up a gun at his father-in-law's house on the Sunday before the Tuesday murder and robbery of Holden and her mother, Dorothy G. Tassin, Golden added.
The gun was returned to Ladner's father-in-law's house Tuesday or Wednesday after the murder occurred, he said.
Shortly before Thanksgiving, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson was informed about a piece of jewelry being offered for sale in a Metairie jewelry store by Ladner, he said.
"Holden's daughter, Tessie Gross, identified and will testify that the ring belonged to her mother and you will have photographs showing the ring on Holden's hand prior to her death," Golden stated.

He also told the jurors that a diamond had been taken out of the ring and the defendant had requested the jeweler to put the diamond in a cross.
Golden said more jewelry belonging to Holden was later found at Ladner's apartment.
"We will have a ballistics expert to testify that a projectile taken from Dorothy Tassin came from this gun (which Ladner returned to his father-in-law's house) to the exclusion of any other gun in the universe," he stated.
Golden said the bullet which killed Holden did not have sufficient characteristics to determine what gun it came from.
"Also on the very day of the murder of Holden and her mother, Ladner's sister-in-law purchased a watch which had belonged to Holden from Ladner," Golden said.
"The ring, the gun and the watch all point to one man, Jeffrey Ladner," he said.
Golden closed his opening remarks saying Jeannette Holden had begged for her life and was showing Ladner where things were and was taking her rings off when he shot her.

The first witness for the prosecution was Ladner's father-in-law, Anthony Swankhart.
He testified Ladner had given him the gun in September or October and then returned for it in November.
"He said he was going to go rabbit hunting," Swankhart said.
When Ladner returned the gun a few days after picking it up, Swankhart put it in a locker in his bedroom until law enforcement officers came Nov. 27.
Swankhart said he could not swear exactly when the gun was picked up but remembered it was on a Sunday because he was watching a Saint's ballgame.
He also testified he had read an article in the newspaper about the murders and became concerned when he recognized the caliber of the gun as the one Ladner had returned to him.
The jury was excused from the courtroom while a discussion was held on the newspaper article which the prosecution wanted entered as evidence.
Testimony continued Wednesday afternoon and is expected to continue several days as a list of potential witnesses which included 35 names was submitted to the court.
Defense attorneys are Public Defender William Frisbee and Albert Necaise.
In addition to Golden, District Attorney Cono Carana is serving as prosecutor.
Circuit Court Judge James Thomas is presiding.
Ladner is facing a life imprisonment or a death sentence if found guilty of Holden's murder.
He is also charged with capital murder in the shooting death of Holden's mother, Tassin.
The bodies of Holden and Tassin were discovered about 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11 by Holden's daughter in a mobile home parked near the Brass Anchor Lounge on US-90.
Both women were shot at close range in the head with a .32 caliber handgun between 6 and 7 a.m.
JURY SELECTION
Of the 300 persons summoned for the special court session which included Ladner's trial, only about a third of this number appeared Monday when jury selection began.
Thomas impanelled seven groups with a total of 68 persons.
From this number the 12 members needed for the jury were selected with the final juror being named late Tuesday evening, almost 11 hours after the jury selection process began.
However an additional 25 summons were authorized Tuesday night to get alternate jurors.
The selection process began with the first two panels of 12 potential jurors being seated in the front two rows of seats in the courtroom.
Extra chairs were brought in to accommodate the 68 impanelled jurors and others in the courtroom.
Thomas told the jurors he wanted them to be at ease and not be intimidated by the courtroom scene.
"The only difference between me and you is that I'm wearing a black dress," he joked.
This is a serious matter but the potential jurors need to be comfortable so attorneys for both sides can get all necessary information to select jurors, he said.

Among the first questions asked was if anyone had questions about being sequestered.
Thomas explained that during the trial, jurors would stay at an area motel and their meals would be provided.
Sequestering a jury is to protect the jury from hearing any news or discussing different aspects of the case while the trial is underway.
"I expect (the trial) to be finished this week, but it will probably go through Saturday and maybe through Monday and Tuesday," he said.
Potential jurors quoted various problems including business, health and personal reasons which would

Election commissioner states Miller was never a candidate

BY DENA BISNETTE
A Hancock County Election Commissioner has stated that a candidate who was reportedly disqualified from a Justice Court judge's race never actually qualified under a changed election law.
Hancock County Election Commission Secretary Charles Gottschalk said J.D. "Tony" Miller was never certified as a candidate in the race by the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee.
Miller's name was never on the Republican primary ballot and will not be on the Nov. 3 general election ballot, leaving Democrat Lee Klein as the only candidate in the Justice Court Judge, west district election, the secretary said.
Gottschalk explained that he had contacted a representative of the Republican Executive Committee, Dena Curvey, who told him that Miller had never provided proof that he had completed a G.E.D. through an out-of-state program.
Therefore, Miller was not certifiable.
Due to a change in election laws passed in the 1986 session of the Mississippi Legislature, candidates for Justice Court judge must be high school graduates or have the equivalent of a high school diploma.
The new laws took effect earlier this year.
In November of 1986, Miller ran as a Democrat in a special Justice Court judge, west district election, and was defeated by Barbara Frierson.
The purpose of the special election was to provide a judge for the remainder of a term started by Frierson's late husband, Horatio Frierson Jr., who had died while in office.
Gottschalk said Miller at that time had claimed to have graduated from Chamberlain Hunt Military Academy in Port Gibson, but a check of school records later indicated that he was not a graduate of the school.

However, the special election was conducted under the old election law, which did not include the high school graduation requirement for Justice Court judge candidates.

County settles false arrest damage suit

Hancock County has agreed to settle a $450,000 false arrest damage suit for $9,000.
The Board of Supervisors agreed last week to settle the suit with David John Carver, who was arrested in an undercover drug operation called "Operation Dawnbuster" conducted by the Sheriff's Department some two years ago.
Board attorney Gerald C. Gex said that Judge Lansing Mitchell had recommended the settlement after a pretrial hearing.
"Of course, when a judge recommends, you normally follow his recommendation," Gex told the supervisors.
In his lawsuit, filed in October 1985 in U.S. District Court, Carver claimed that he was arrested by Waveland police officers at about 6 a.m. May 17, 1985, at his home in Camille Trailer Park. The officers were assisting the Sheriff's Department with the arrests.
The police officers advised Carver that he was being arrested for sale of a controlled substance, then handcuffed him in front of his 5-year-old daughter and took him to the county jail, where he was photographed by WLOX-TV and by a Sea Coast Echo reporter, according to court documents.

Carver claimed that although he repeatedly told police that they had the wrong man, he was jailed until he posted $2,500 bond.
The charge against him was dismissed for lack of probable cause on May 30, 1985, by Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson Jr., but even after that, Carver claimed, Deputy Sheriff Joseph M. Seibert continued to insist that Carver was the man who had sold Seibert the drugs.
Carver had asked for $100,000 in damages for his humiliation, pain, loss of income and mental anguish, and $350,000 in punitive damages.
Defendants in the suit included the county, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, Seibert, the city of Waveland, Waveland police officers Mike Pendergast and John Wilkerson and two other Waveland police officers identified only as A and B.
Pendergast and Wilkerson earlier were dismissed as defendants in the suit.

Republican candidate for governor speaks at area fund-raisers

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Jack Reed, the Tupelo Republican candidate for governor, told a group of Hancock County residents Sunday at a fundraiser in Diamondhead "the race has been going very well for the past three to four weeks."
"I have enjoyed everything about this campaign except the level it is now sinking to," he said.
No matter what people say, I am continuing to run a positive campaign, Reed added.
"In spite of having to work 14, 16 or 18 hours a day, I have sincerely enjoyed the past nine months of campaigning," he said.
"I even ate fried catfish four straight times in Simpson County," Reed stated.
"And I'll tell you one thing, I have a lot more respect for elected officials now," he added.
Reed told the group he invites a close scrutiny by the voters of both candidates in the race.
"The critical issue is not who has the expert political advice on how to get elected but the most important thing is what happens in January after the election is over," Reed said.
"I really believe Mississippi can move from the bottom of the list. I wouldn't be running for governor if I wasn't convinced that I could do something for the state of Mississippi," he said. Reed praised Diamondhead resident Evelyn McPhail, Mississippi's Republican National Committeewoman.
"If we had had people like Evelyn McPhail working for Mississippi for a long time, there wouldn't have been a Democrat governor for the past 100 years," he stated.

Earlier Sunday Reed attended a reception in his honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Buechler of Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Port Commission moves to acquire proposed school site

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Monday voted to offer owners of a 40-acre site near Stennis Airport $3,000 per acre for the property which the commission hopes to use for expansion of the airport industrial park.
The offer is contingent upon the price being no higher than a certified appraisal and also upon approval of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.
Even though state education officials have approved construction of a school on the site the Port and Harbor Commission will still try to buy the land to expand the industrial park.
The county school board and the commission have locked horns in recent weeks over the site to the east of the Pearl River Junior college Vocational-Technical School, which adjoins the park. Both county agencies want it.

The school board, after months of studying alternative locations for its new junior-senior high school, selected the site. The commission has charged that the property represents its only possibility to expand the park.
On Friday, the state Department of Education approved the site for construction of the school. Sanction of department is needed for the school district to receive $600,000 in state construction funds set aside for Hancock County.
The commission voted Monday to hire the appraisal firm of Burns-Poulous Associates.

The property has been offered for sale by owners Terry and Michael White at $5,000 per acre for a total of $200,000.
Neither the school board nor the commission may pay a price higher than market value determined by a licensed appraiser.
The state department did not consider price when it approved the site, said Gerald Peavey, supervisor of the School Buildings Division. But Peavey affirmed that no school district may pay more than the appraised price.
School board president Frank Miller said that the board will

Senator Stennis' help will long be remembered

United States Senator John C. Stennis announced this week his plans of not seeking re-election to a post he has held for some 40 years. His term will end in 1988.

It will be a very long time before someone will come along who will mean so much to the State of Mississippi as Senator Stennis.

Senator Stennis' influence has meant so very much to the Mississippi Gulf Coast and especially Hancock County.

Without the senator's influence Hancock County would definitely not be where it is today.

He was instrumental in the location of the Mississippi Test Facility, (now the National Space Technology Laboratories) in Hancock County.

Senator Stennis has been at the forefront for a strong United States military defense and helped the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant become a reality and be located in our county.

Accomplishments of Senator Stennis will be talked and written about for many years to come.

The senior senator who is third in line for the presidency, is the most respected political leader in Washington.

We wish Senator Stennis well in his retirement ahead and will always be grateful for his help to the people of Hancock County.

Governments' service charges amount to another tax

Oct. 20, 1987
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

"No millage change this year," so say the city leaders of both Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Who's kidding who? With the increase of minimum utility bills the cities will collect at least $72 extra per home. If that's not a tax increase, it should be since service charges are not IRS deducts—mostly though this allows the major landowners of vacant land to escape paying a fair share.

Service charges "tax" the poor and/or those on limited, fixed incomes while allowing the "fat cats" to escape free and clear.

Capital improvements are normally funded through taxes such as the wastewater plant; this plant is not, it's service-charge oriented!

Schools, libraries, police and fire protection, public buildings, etc. are funded by taxes—not service charges.

Let's end this madness, this inequity, this "service charge tax." Every civic, fraternal social and church organization should petition these cities to get their acts in order.

Ask to sign your group's petition today, or start one.

Best regards,
Royce P. Kaupp

No luck with efforts to lodge complaint with school district

ATTENTION PARENTS
Going north on Carroll Avenue (having the right of way), had I not stopped, a speeding school bus would have plowed into my car. This bus driver, a woman, traveling at an alarming rate of speed completely ignored the stop sign at Carroll and Necaise.

Unable to reach anyone at the school or the superintendent's office, I telephoned the president of the school board to lodge a complaint. To date I have heard absolutely nothing.

Children are our most precious resource. Certainly they don't need to be transported to school in a bus with a driver who thinks she's at the "Indy 500."

Blue Lightning Center symbol of 'all-out war on drug traffic'

GULFPORT—Senator Thad Cochran says a new Gulf Coast command center is the "symbol of our all-out war on drug trafficking in this country."

Cochran urged federal, state and local law enforcement agencies to step up "a coordinated campaign against those who smuggle drugs into the United States, and those who sell these deadly wares in our communities."

The Senator's comments came at ceremonies here Monday dedicating the U.S. Customs Service's new Blue Lightning Command Center, headquarters for the war on drug trafficking along a multi-state Gulf Coast area.

He said that tougher criminal penalties, including the seizure and sale of property and assets linked to drug trafficking, and more money and manpower for law enforcement agencies to combat drug operations, have been "high priorities of mine as your United States Senator. I will continue to work to see that adequate funds are available for personnel and equipment to combat this drug trafficking."

The senator said that "our law enforcement authorities, however, must also have the encouragement and support of the citizens they seek to protect."

"Those who are in the front lines of the war on drugs must have the support and encouragement of all citizens who are concerned about the deadly menace of drugs," he concluded.

Following his trip to the Gulf Coast for the Blue Lightning center ceremonies, Senator Cochran was scheduled to return to Washington for this week's Senate session.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—It's tough running against the Godfather of Mississippi politicians.

That's the task Clyde Magee, a 34-year-old Smith County watermelon farmer from Mize, has taken on in opposing Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Buck Ross in the Nov. 3 general election.

Not only does Magee have a handicap in that he is unknown, except perhaps in the environs of the tiny town of Mize and among other watermelon growers, he is also running as a Republican, which some believe is liability enough in statewide elections.

Magee is a very serious young man, waging a very serious campaign with tremendously limited financial resources (he's raised $7,000 with only $175 from Republican Party sources).

At age 69, Ross is seeking his 6th term as the state's elected Agriculture Commissioner.

Ross is not only the dean of all state office-holders, but he operates a fiefdom in state government which the past 20 years has become impervious to close inspection by the press and unchallenged by the state Legislature. Invariably what Jim Buck wants, he gets from lawmakers.

Magee starts from the premise that the job shouldn't be an elective state office. But while it is, Magee maintains, Ross shouldn't be occupying it because he doesn't represent the real dirt farm people.

"It's my personal opinion this office should be appointive," says the tobacco-chewing Smith County farmer. "Too many people are Today in Gulfport, Mr. Charles C. Shirley will be the recipient of The Governor's Lifesaving Award for his heroic actions.

In case you have forgotten, Mr. Shirley is the motorist who took the late Mississippi State Trooper David Bruce Ladner to the hospital after the law officer was shot on I-10 during a routine traffic check.

The ceremony is headed by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Crime Stoppers in the coordination with the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Mr. Shirley is from Chalmette, La. and will also receive a Key to the City of New Orleans, a commendation from Louisiana Governor Edwin Edwards, and commendations from Hancock County to Jackson County.

The event will take place at 2 p.m. in the Gulfport City Council Room, Second Floor, 2308 15th St., Gulfport.

Many wonderful things are happening in our community which receive very little publicity.

For instance, Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Youth Organization recently held a dance, and profits from the event were donated to the Food Pantry.

The CYO boys and girls are aware of the service the Food Pantry provides our community and felt they should help.

The Food Pantry is operated by a group of volunteers from the area churches who give their time and talents in making it a viable organization in Hancock County.

The Food Pantry receives food and cash donations from churches, residents, businesses, organizations, and industries of the area and is also one of the agencies funded by the United Way of Hancock County.

So, everything involving the Food Pantry is done by volunteers. It is good to see so many people working together on a project.

On Friday, students of the Hancock County and Bay-Waveland School Districts will be participating in Food Pantry drives at the various schools in those districts.

'Teaching Charity to Our Youth' is the theme of the project which is being sponsored by some 15 area merchants and political candidates and spearheaded by Allyson Keller of Jolly Rogers Printing in Bay St. Louis.

Savings Bonds and other gifts will be awarded to participants in the drives on Dec. 1, and all participants get a free ice cream cone from the new Waffles, Inc. in Bay St. Louis.

Coast Electric Power Association will transport the donated foodstuffs from the schools to the Food Pantry located in the old jail building behind the Courthouse.

All we can say is 'Thanks' to everyone.

Bay High's Tigers this Friday will face the St. Martin Yellow Jackets in prep football action.

Tiger Head Coach Cleland Williams' charges should be ready for the Yellow Jackets and continue their winning ways. Of course, St. Martin would like to pull a surprise on the Tigers.

The undefeated Hawks of Hancock North Central will be away from home on Friday visiting St. George County.

Hancock's head coach Irvin Favre is aware of the fact that every team would like to clip the high-flying Hawks, and George County would like to be the team.

The Rockchaws of St. Stanislaus will be at home on Friday hosting East Central.

The Rocks have been up and down this season and should win Friday with a few breaks going their way.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will be seeking their first victory of the season when they travel to Vancleave. Pass Christian has come close several games this year, and Friday could be their first victory.

Local high school teams need good fan support, and it is hoped the stadiums will be filled on Friday night.

On Saturday, Drive For Life, a nationwide campaign to reduce the number of alcohol-related car crashes will be celebrated.

The event is sponsored by Volkswagen on behalf of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, (MADD).

During Saturday, all motorists are urged to leave their headlights on while traveling.

On a local level, the Gulf Coast Chapter of MADD will hold an organizational meeting on Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Waveland Police Department.

prevent them from being sequestered.

Thomas accepted some reasons and excused a few, others were required to remain.

An extensive amount of time was spent questioning the potential jury members about their beliefs in recommending the death penalty if a guilty verdict is reached.

Thomas also asked if any prior knowledge the group had received on the case had caused them to determine what had happened.

The effect of knowledge of the defendant, his family, potential witnesses and the attorneys was also questioned.

"If the lawyers got up and switched table it should make no difference in the decision," Thomas said.

Also questioning the potential jurors were attorneys from both the defense and prosecution.

"This is obviously a serious matter, this man is quite literally on trial for his life, he is presumed innocent and the state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt he is guilty," Carana said.

"We are trying to find the kind of jurors you would want if you were sitting up here between lawyers on trial for your life," he continued.

Necaise told the group he realized they were inconvenienced but that it was necessary for 12 people to be inconvenienced so a decision could be made on how Ladner would spend the rest of his days.

Questioning of the potential jurors continued for several hours and once when Thomas asked if they would like to take a break, there was a chorus of no's.

He told them one good thing about being the judge is having the final say, and then he announced a 10-minute recess.

Once when a recess following individual questioning of the first 24 potential jurors was completed, attorneys from both the prosecution and defense were late.

It was during this recess when the attorneys were deciding which of the first 24 they would accept as jurors.

When Thomas returned to the courtroom and the attorneys were late he sent them word, he would presume the first 12 were acceptable as jurors if all attorneys did not return to the courtroom in two minutes.

All attorneys were in the courtroom less than one minute.

Only four of the first 24 were selected as jurors and the questioning process began with another 24.

At 7 p.m. questioning of the final six of the 68 began. At this time one juror and alternates were needed.

This number was reduced until there were only two remaining who were asked to wait outside the courtroom while the selection process continued.

On the way out, one of these two made the sign of the cross.

Ferris asked that it be included in the record that she seemed to be begging to be excused from serving as a juror.

Twelve members of the jury were sworn in at 8:10 p.m.

discuss obtaining an appraisal and a survey of the property at its next meeting, scheduled for Nov. 2.

"State Department approval was the last official obstacle in our way," said school superintendent Terry Randolph. "our next step is to get an appraisal and make an offer."

The Board of Supervisors has sided with the commission and urged the school board to build elsewhere. But school officials, on a 3-2 vote, decided to proceed with the White property.

A meeting of the board with school and commission officials to resolve differences failed when the only school trustees to attend were those who opposed the site—Wayne King and Billie Fay Lyons. Favoring the property were Miller, Barbara Dedeaux and Lennette Necaise.

voting for someone to fill the job who really don't have any idea about agriculture or what this office should be doing."

Ross is a holdover "from the plantation mentality, which ran this state for many years," Magee contends. "That's the way he runs the Department of Agriculture...like a plantation overseer."

One of the reasons he decided to run for the job, Magee says, is to see that the smaller farmers are represented in determining state agriculture policy.

Magee grew up on a Smith County farm that has been in the Magee family since the 1840's. He graduated in agriculture from Mississippi State University in 1975, then came back home and acquired his own 710 acre farm on which he grows watermelons and cantaloupes plus other vegetables.

In 1980, he was named Mississippi's Outstanding Young Farmer by the Mississippi Farm Bureau. Currently, he is president of the Mississippi Watermelon Growers Association.

Ross's biggest failing, Magee maintains, is his failure to develop adequate marketing of what many Mississippi farmers are producing. "He (Ross) talks about raising alter-

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Mississippians live in the middle of a giant factory that often goes unappreciated, but brings in $500 million to the state economy each year.

This factory is not housed in a building, nor does it belch out smoke as it manufactures a product. It will give Mississippi an opportunity to become an industry leader if it is managed correctly, according to Bob Daniels, a forester with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

What kind of factory can deliver these things? A "forest" factory can.

"Think of a forest as a factory," Daniels said. "Instead of smokestacks, we've got forest factories. We can live in the midst of our factories, have clean air and enjoy the recreation that goes along with them."

The Extension Service, along with state and federal agencies, will help celebrate National Forest Products Week, Oct. 19-23, to promote the forestry industry. The theme of forest products week is "America Builds on Wood," more than applicable to Mississippi's relationship with forestry.

The state's timber industry employs at least 50,000 people in mills and processing plants plus additional loggers, pulpwood cutters and independent foresters. It supports local industries using wood and wood products and it has created the need for additional support industries.

Forestry also benefits private citizens. More than 16.3 million acres of land is in commercial timber, and the bulk of this acreage is privately owned.

"Forestry is as important to Mississippi or even more important to us as it is to the average state," Daniels said. "Timber is a major crop for our state."

Timber ranked third or better as an income-producing crop in 64 of 82 counties last year. It was number one in 32 of those counties.

Daniels said tree farming could be a good crop for individual farmers, providing the land was suitable and properly managed. "To me, it's a win, win situation," he said.

"Planting trees can stop erosion on property, hold the soil, establish a crop for the landowner and help supply industry with raw material."

About 60 percent of the state's forestry industry is in softwoods such as pine. Surprisingly, hardwoods account for the other 40 percent.

"Many landowners have a love for hardwoods that they don't have for pine because of the mystique hardwoods hold for them," Daniels said. "But deer, turkeys and quail thrive in piney woods, so there's a need and demand for both in Mississippi."

The forest in Mississippi may not fit the conventional definition of a factory, but just like its industrial counterparts it keeps churning out a product needed for a long time to come.

'A Prairie Home Companion' goes to Cajun country

Garrison Keillor visits Baton Rouge, La. in a special "Cajun Edition" of "A Prairie Home Companion" at 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 24, on PRM. The program will be rebroadcast at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25.

Cajun music is provided by Mark and Ann Savoy, "Beausoleil" and fiddler Dennis McGee.

Preservation Hall musicians Willie Humphrey and Frank Fields travel from New Orleans to join the musical fun.

For his "monologue," Keillor recalls the Sweethearts Supper at Lake Wobegon Lutheran and the romance of Senator K. Thorvaldson.

PRM, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast statewide and from Biloxi on 90.3 FM.

Hancock Sheriff to head March of Dimes

The first WalkAmerica to benefit the March of Dimes has been set for Saturday, Nov. 7, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, event chairman.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m., with the walk starting at 9 a.m.

WalkAmerica will be a ten kilometer walk along the beach, beginning at the foot of the Bay St. Louis bridge and ending at Buccaner State Park in Waveland.

There will be two rest stops along the walk, where Coca Cola and water will be served.

Security and medical aid will also be available, and, at Buccaneer State Park, lunch will be served and transportation will be provided to take walkers back to the start.

Each walker who raises $50 will be given a WalkAmerica T-shirt, and there will also be prizes given for the student and adult who raises the most money.

"Money is raised for the March of Dimes by each walker securing pledges for the number of kilometers walked" said Peterson, "and we urge all businesses and clubs to enter their employees, members and families as teams."

We also urge school students to participate in this WalkAmerica," he continued, "and get family and friends to pledge for them."

Sponsor forms and further information are available at the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at 467-5101, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at 467-9048, or call the March of Dimes office at 896-0886.

Infection control group offers suggestions

National Infection Control Week, Oct. 18-24, is sponsored by the Association For Practitioners In Infection Control (APIC).

This particular week is designed to draw the public's attention to the infections and diseases that are contracted and to communicate safeguards everyone can take to prevent their spread.

Infectious diseases continue to be of national concerns. As a part of this observance, AMI Garden Park Community Hospital offers the following information so that you can stop the spread of infections and disease.

The single most effective means in preventing infection is handwashing. Handwashing, although a simple measure, is something everyone can practice at all times. Most everyone knows to wash their hands, however, there is more to the technique than just rinsing them under water before eating.

PROPER TECHNIQUE

- * Use soap and warm-water
- * Rub hands together for 10-15 seconds
- * Rinse thoroughly and dry

WHEN TO WASH

- * Before eating, drinking or handling food
- * After using the toilet, blowing nose or covering a sneeze

- * After handling garbage, diapers, etc.
- * Before touching eyes
- * After hands become obviously soiled

Handwashing is not the only means of preventing the spread of infections or diseases. Practicing good personal hygiene/health habits are also important in infection control.

- * Bathe or shower every day
- * Keep nails clean and trimmed
- * Don't share eating utensils or lit cigarettes with others, especially if they are sick.

EDUCATION:

He attended St. Rose De Lima, Bay St. Louis, and Xavier Prep in New Orleans. He earned his B.A. from Xavier University in Louisiana. He received his law degree from Lincoln University Law School in Missouri.

Would you ask even the best seamstress to be your family surgeon? Would you ask a master plumber to be the principal of our high school? Should we then ask anyone but a qualified person to be a judge for our county?

The training of a lawyer is the result of 19 years of formal education before taking the Bar Examination, and still some fail the examination.

Every judge should be trained in legal matters. He should be professional. Citizens required to appear before a court of law deserve no less. The court system of the county deserves the best legal minds available to render an immediate just and fair judgement. It is less expensive for the individual and the county than an appeal process due to ignorance of the law of legal process.

I have been involved with cases all over the country helping other people. I am now back home and want to serve the people of Hancock County. Do you want me? Are you ready?...I am.

Wildcats' Nelson elated with win

The Pearl River College Wildcats stopped the bleeding Saturday night by beating arch-rival Gulf Coast 33-7.

"It was such a satisfying win for us," said Mike Nelson, the Wildcats' head coach, who jumped the Gulf Coast ship back in '85. "It was my first win over my old team and boss. It couldn't come at a better time."

Not only did the Wildcat victory stop a five-year losing skid to the Bulldogs but it also stopped a three-game losing streak here in '87.

"Our offensive line blocked well and our rush defense dominated the game," said Nelson. "It was an overall performance we desperately needed."

Nelson admitted that he didn't think Gulf Coast had the caliber of team they started with this year.

"But we could also be in their (Gulf Coast) position," said Nelson. "But we aren't. We still have a real shot at posting a winning record."

More than anything else Nelson is pleased with the team's attitude. "We feel better about ourselves than we have in weeks," said Nelson. "I think it showed Saturday and I believe it will show this week when we take on Copiah-Lincoln here at home."

The Wildcats will meet last year's South Division champs at 7 p.m. in the Dobie Holden Stadium. For the Wolves 1987 has been as difficult to take as it has been for the Wildcats.

Co-Lin will bring a 1-6 mark into the contest. Last week the Wolves lost 28-24 to front-running Hinds. It wasn't the first close game they have experienced this year.

After losing to Holmes 32-14 to start the season, Northwest won 15-14, East Central 24-23 and Southwest 20-17. Itawamba beat Co-Lin 23-14, while the Wolves edged Jones 21-20.

"They have been in every ballgame," said Nelson. "They are not as bad as the 1-6 record indicates."

The Wildcats have not defeated Co-Lin since 1981. It has been five long frustrating years and the Cats would love nothing better than to even their '87 record with a victory this Saturday.

"I think the key this week is attitude," said Nelson. "We will have to want this game more than they do."

Jerry Geathers and Greg Necaise did an outstanding job for the Wildcats on defense this past week.

So did the offensive line as running backs Jerry Rush and Roland Johnson churned up more than 100 yards each in the contest.

For the first time in four weeks the PRC defense also stopped the rushing attack. In fact, Gulf Coast had a minus 10 yards on the ground.

"Even though we have been extremely disappointed this year, we can still have a good year," said Nelson.

"This week against Co-Lin is just one more big step for us to regain our respectability."

VICTORY RECAP

The Wildcats ended five years of frustration Saturday night.

The lopsided PRC win was the first over Gulf Coast since 1981. Not only did the Wildcat victory stop the Bulldogs' domination but it also assured Gulf Coast Coach George Sekul of his first losing season ever.

Sekul has won more than 80 percent of his ballgames during the past 22 years, however, the loss Saturday night gave the Bulldogs a 1-6 record with only three games left here in 1987.

The PRC win ended a three-game losing skid for Mike Nelson and his Wildcats and put the Cats' ledger at 3-4. The victory was also Nelson's first in three tries against his old boss Sekul.

Pearl River completely dominated the game with Jerry Rush racing 57 yards on the very first offensive play.

Five plays later Rush took the ball over from the two. Joey Tatum's point after kick failed.

A few minutes later the Wildcats recovered a fumble at the Gulf Coast 15 and it didn't take quarterback Scott Nease but two plays to find Tracey Boyd in the endzone from 11 yards out.

Jerry Rush took the ball around right end for the two-point conversion and a 14-0 lead.

In the second period the Wildcats scored again as tailback Roland Johnson took the ball in from the 19. Tatum's kick was blocked and the Wildcats had a 20-0 halftime lead.

The Wildcats picked up scores in the third and fourth quarters as Nease passed to Arthur Dozier from 11 yards and Chris Collins passed to Matt Fairconnetue from 29 yards out.

Tatum's first kick was good but the last was blocked again.

Eagles 18 - Dogs 14

Quite an encore

HATTIESBURG—What do you do for an encore after last year's late game heroics ("The Drive") that resulted in a 28-24 Golden Eagle victory over Mississippi State?

If you're Southern Mississippi you use 15 fourth period points to again come from behind and beat the Bulldogs, this time 18-14. Saturday's game in Jackson's renamed Mississippi Veterans Memorial Stadium left both teams with 3-3 season marks as the Golden Eagles now prepare for Memphis State.

Coach Jim Carmody's club grabbed a second period 3-0 lead on the strength of a 47-yard Chris Seroka field goal, but a recharged Rocky Felker team started the third period strong and built a 14-3 lead before the quarter ended, setting the stage for fourth period USM heroics for the second straight year.

Taking over at quarterback late in the third period, Ailrick Young proceeded to drive his charges for a pair of final period scores. The New Orleans, La., junior, who has played sparingly since midway through the second game of the season, returned with the poise of the veteran that he is as he completed six of six for 75 yards and a touchdown, rushed for 36 more on nine carries, and passed for the two point conversion that put the game beyond field goal reach.

First, Young hit Darryl Tillman with a 14-yard scoring pass at the 7:52 mark in the final period. Then he connected with Tillman for the two point conversion to pull the Eagles to within three points.

On the ensuing Golden Eagle possession, fullback Eddie Ray Jackson put his only carry of the afternoon to good use with a 20-yard burst up the middle for the go ahead points.

Tailback Shelton Gandy added his third 100-yard-plus rushing game of the 1987 season (113 yards on 21 carries) as the Eagles outgained the Bulldogs 211-123 on the ground.

The Wildcats moved to a 33-0 advantage before Gulf Coast's Shane Bryant passed 12 yards to Rodney Taylor for the Bulldogs' only score of the night. Adethsack Chanthavan kicked the point after.

Rush scored for 123 yards on 18 tries and Johnson picked up 115 yards on 13 attempts. The Bulldogs were held to a minus 10 yards rushing.

Amazon adventure to air on PRM

Sounds recorded on location in the steaming forests of the Amazon provide the lush background for "Dreams of Rio," a new drama series beginning on PRM at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 25.

The drama unfolds as fictional adventurer Jack Flanders, lured to romantic Rio de Janeiro, suddenly finds himself involved in a search for a "lost city" located somewhere in the jungles of the Amazon basin.

The writers of the series literally "hacked their way" through the jungles, hauling tons of digital equipment, tapes, microphones and batteries.

They later wrote the script of "Dreams of Rio" to correspond to the magnificent sounds they gleaned from the jungles and cities of Brazil, a sound the producers claim is "so real you can smell it."

PRM, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast statewide and in Biloxi on 90.3 FM.

PUMPKIN CROP

Just in time for Halloween, "Farmweek" will present a report on this year's pumpkin harvest in Mississippi at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 26, on Mississippi ETV.

Also on the program will be a segment evaluating this year's pecan crop in the state.

"Farmweek" reporters will also examine the problem of cattle theft in Mississippi. Now that cattle prices are up, cattle theft has become more common. "Farmweek" will survey the extent of the problem and offer tips to farmers on prevention.

Here's one football record that will probably never be broken. Amos Alonzo Stagg was a football coach for 70—that's right—70 CONSECUTIVE years! He started out as coach at Springfield in 1890 and 1891. Then he coached at the University of Chicago from 1892 through 1932. He was at College of Pacific from 1933 through 1946, at Susquehanna from 1947 through 1952 and at Stockton from 1953 to 1960!

You probably won't believe this one. We didn't either, but it's been checked and it's true. There was once a major college football game that had a paid attendance of one! It was the Washington State-San Jose game of Nov. 12, 1955 played at Washington State. The temperature that day was 14 below zero and only one person showed up to pay his way into the stadium. The fact that this really happened has been verified by the Washington State athletic department.

Which 2 teams played in the very first Super Bowl? The first Super Bowl was played on Jan. 15, 1967 and the 2 teams that met were Green Bay and Kansas City. Final score was Green Bay 35, Kansas City 10.

Hawk's playoff position to be decided this week

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock North Central Hawks will be on the road this week to Lucedale to face the George County Rebels in a match that will determine if the Hawks will go to the state playoffs.

According to the new rules, the top two teams in the district advance to state playoffs and if Hancock Central defeats George County they will be among the top two teams in the district.

"This ball game is really a big game for us because if we win we will be Hancock North Central's first team to ever go to state playoffs," Head Coach Irvin Favre said.

George County has a season record of two wins and five losses. The wins have been over Long Beach and East Central.

The Rebels have been defeated by Ocean Springs, Stone County, St. Martin, Grand Bay and d'Iberville.

"This will be a long two-hour ride for the team and is the longest trip that we take," Favre said.

"We will be playing on a field that is nicknamed the Slab because the ground is so hard," he added.

"But we can't afford to have any slipups because this win means the playoffs," Favre added.

The past three years, d'Iberville has won the district title and has been the team to go to state playoffs, this year the Hawks plan to go to playoffs, too.

"The playoffs will overshadow everything, being undefeated or ranked in state," Favre said.

With this in mind the Hawks have worked very hard this week and have put out a lot of extra effort," he continued.

According to Favre, the George County is an offensive power team.

"They like to run the ball more than pass and they just line up and come right at you," he said.

The Hawks will just have to buckle down and stop them on the ground, he added.

Defensively, the Rebels run a 4-3 and a 4-4 defense. This is a George County strong point and they have played good defense against teams that are undefeated.

"A sign of their strong defense is that eight of the 11 defensive players are seniors," he said.

"We are going to have to go in and play all around good defense and offense and special teams," Favre said.

According to Favre the Hawk team may not be very healthy going into the game because both Halfback Terrence Goff and Defensive Back Ronald Doyle are questionable about going into the game because of knee injuries.

Kickoff will be at 7:30 p.m. in the George County stadium.

USM plans open house in Memphis

HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi Alumni Association will hold an open house event Saturday, Oct. 24, prior to the football clash with Memphis State in Memphis.

The open house will be held at the Wilson World Hotel next to the Mall of Memphis at 2715 Cherry Road from 3:30-5:30 p.m.

Tigers expect solid play Friday

By DENA BISNETTE

The play-off bound Bay Senior High School Tigers will try for their sixth victory of the season Friday when they host the St. Martin Yellow Jackets.

The St. Martin game does not affect the Tigers' district and conference standings, but will be a tough one, Head Coach Cleveland Williams said.

The Tigers, in District 15, will have to play the winner in District 16. Bay High assured itself of play-off berth earlier this season by winning four of its five district and conference games, losing only to Stone County.

Bay has five wins and one loss and St. Martin is four and two with losses to d'Iberville and Hancock North Central, the next team on the Tiger schedule.

"The Yellow Jackets are physical and aggressive, which gives them a solid attack," Williams said.

"Basically, this team runs about 60 percent of the time. Mosley is a big, strong running back who has the quickness to get to the outside."

"Defensively, they are strong and quick, with a lot of beef on the front. Their linebackers are quick and play sound football."

Bay High is coming into the game from an open week after a 24-8 defeat of Long Beach two weeks ago.

"The Tiger have been working long hours in preparation for this contest. We're expecting a hard fight out of St. Martin's ballclub," Williams said.

"Even so, we're not changing our game plan. We are staying with the same plans that have got us this far," the coach added.

"We've have added a few more wrinkles to our passing game."

In addition, Williams said a few personnel changes have been made on both offense and defense, which should help.

Problems did show up on the Tigers' special teams two weeks ago and Bay High has been working on those, which should result in a better performance against St. Martin than against Long Beach, the coach added.

Probable starters on offense for Friday night include Travis Haynes, center; Jerry Island and Doral Nichols, guards; Heath Hoppood and Lance Bell, tackles; Darrin Washington, tight end; Dante Curry, split end; Andrew Collins, fullback; Aaron Whavers, running back; Doug Rhodes, wingback; and Chad LaFontaine, quarterback.

Defensive starters are expected to include Bell and Washington, ends; Amadae Collins and Island, tackles; Monty Strong, Aaron Whavers, Andrew Collins and Ed Elliott, linebackers; Curry and Rhodes, cornerbacks; and Rickey Whavers, free safety.

The game begins at 7:30 p.m. at J.D. McCullough Field.

Earlier this week, the Bay High B-team defeated the Long Beach Bearcats 13 to 6 in a home game.

Rocks to entertain East Central Friday

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws return home this Friday evening to face the East Central Hornets. The Rocks have dropped their last three road games and are now 3-4 for the season, while the Hornets have a 1-5 worksheet.

Coach Ken Lyons of the Rockchaws has made a few adjustments for this week's ballgame. Expected to see a lot of action Friday in the Rockchaw backfield are Cedric Smith, Yasin Shabazz, and Jorge Ponjuan.

East Central, under the direction of head coach Rocky Long, runs from a split backfield set. They have shown tendencies to run from the Wing-T formation. On defense, the hornets run a combination of a 4-man front and a 5-man front.

The Rockchaws have several injuries on the ballclub, but Coach Lyons feels that with the depth of the squad, the Rocks will be ready for their opponents.

Friday night will be designated "Parent Appreciation Night" by St. Stanislaus. Athletic Director Jerry Spell has invited parents of the senior players to meet on the sideline before the game.

Parents, along with their son, will be introduced to the crowd before kickoff. In this way, SSC will recognize the contribution that both parents and players have made to the success of this year's team.

Ducks Unlimited plans banquet

The Hancock County Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will sponsor its 10th annual Ducks Unlimited Banquet and Auction on Nov. 19, at Frank Trapani's Knock-Knock in Waveland.

Activities include a cocktail hour from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. followed by dinner.

An auction will begin shortly after dinner and will feature selected prints by national and state renowned artists, decoys, including a "Tabor" special edition, and limited edition rifles and shotguns.

There will also be raffle items and door prizes donated by local merchants.

Anyone wishing further information may contact area chairman, Keith Ladner at 487-9683 or Harold Hitt at 487-4011.

THRIFFILEY SCORES—Todd N. Thriffley of Bay St. Louis is all smiles after scoring his first collegiate touchdown Saturday in the Millsaps Majors, 49-7 victory over Lambuth College of Jackson, Tenn. Thriffley, a sophomore and graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, is the starting tailback for Millsaps. The score came on a five yard pass reception from quarterback Rusty Davis. Thriffley was also the leading ball carrier for the Majors in the victory with runs of 21 and 37 yards, respectively. Thriffley is scheduled to serve as captain of the Majors in their Oct. 31 outing against Washington University in Jackson after a layoff this week. Todd Thriffley is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thriffley of Bay St. Louis.

St. Stanislaus ballcarrier Yasin Shabazz evades a Riverdale defender during last week's game. On Friday, the Rockchaws play host to East Central.

newsletter of the state-federal cooperative program for red drum research in the gulf

Marfin funds red drum research

From approximately $2 million available to enhance fishery resources in the Gulf of Mexico, the Board of the Marine Fisheries Initiative Program (MARFIN) has approved over $770,500 for financial assistance to state and federal agencies and universities conducting red drum research.

Areas of research include stock assessment and identification, estimates of year-class strength, life history, fishery-independent assessment methods and social and economic analyses of the red drum fishery. Many of the approved projects are contained in the State-Federal Cooperative Program for Red Drum Research in the Gulf of Mexico.

Projects approved for funding and now underway by the National Marine Fisheries Service include:

Red drum stock assessment analysis project conducted by the NMFS Miami Laboratory, investigates available analytical approaches for estimating population size. An updated stock assessment figure is currently under preparation and will be presented to the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council on Oct. 1.

Cooperative tagging system will coordinate state, federal and private efforts to tag red drum, store the tag release and recovery information in a centralized database and provide rapid access to these data for research analysis.

Red drum mark and recapture studies conducted by the NMFS Pascagoula Laboratory in cooperation with state agencies, is currently in the recapture phase of adult red drum tagged in offshore waters through June. Allied red drum research by the Pascagoula Laboratory includes aerial surveys of red drum schools to determine range and relative abundance. Aerial survey activities extend from the Mexican border to the Florida Keys.

State and University research projects include:

Age class structure of exploited red drum stocks from the near- and inshore fishery conservation zone, north central Gulf of Mexico is an on-going project by the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources to investigate red drum life history, age verification, age/length and age/size at recruitment into offshore stocks and age/size of sexual maturity. Juvenile escapement rate from inshore waters will be determined.

Life history studies of red drum populations in Mississippi by Gulf Coast Research Laboratory continues to study recruitment, growth, distribution, abundance and migration of red drum in nearshore waters. Additional tagging efforts to determine juvenile escapement to the offshore stock will be made.

Tag/recapture program for red drum in northwest Florida by Florida Department of Natural Resources is a program to provide information on exploitation rates, growth and movements of sub-adult red drum to the offshore stock.

Louisiana red drum research project consolidates four on-going projects by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries and Louisiana State University. Project objectives will assess migration and estuarine escapement and the effect of new state regulations on the escapement rate. This project will also study collection of catch and effort data, including length frequency and size of recruitment in Louisiana's fishery, age validation utilizing otoliths, age structure, growth rates and reproduction and mortality rates and development of an index of offshore stock abundance.

Age validation of adult red drum in Florida by Florida Department of Natural Resources continues investigation of using tetracycline to mark reference points on red drum otoliths. Fish will be marked and held in outdoor ponds. Subsamples of fish will be sacrificed after each full year of holding to test the hypothesis that one opaque band forms on otoliths each year and are thus accurate indicators of age. Other marked adult red drum will be released into the wild.

Derivation of empirical red drum catch rate elasticities for recreational anglers in the Gulf of Mexico is a new project conducted by the University of Southern Mississippi to analyze patterns of recreational red drum participation in response to changes in catch rates. Angler catch profiles will be developed, identifying target populations of red drum anglers by tabulating catch by region, gear, expenditures, distance traveled and satisfaction levels.

Identification of red drum fishery stocks and establishment of a multivariate model for growth and body condition is a joint project by the University of New Orleans and Gulf Coast Research Laboratory to analyze early life stage body measurements, using image analysis equipment. Discrimination among subtly varying shapes will be correlated with measures of electrophoretic variation to identify potentially distinct stocks. Red drum populations will also be examined to establish more sensitive estimators of seasonal body condition.

Coordinating, planning and progress-reporting of the cooperative state-federal research plan for the red drum, an on-going project of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission, will coordinate red drum research activities through the SEAMAP Red Drum Work Group, evaluate the program's progress and prepare and distribute this information through the Sciaenops newsletter.

Red drum studies in Texas include:

STOCKING
The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports that on on-going program of stocking Texas bays with red drum is expected to produce eight million fingerlings for release in 1987. Pioneering development of saltwater hatchery rearing techniques for red drum began at the Perry R. Bass Marine Fisheries Station in 1972. Initial evaluations have indicated that stocked fingerlings survive in Texas' coastal bays and contribute to the population.

CULTURE
Advanced culture work includes comparison of red drum from South Carolina and Texas fish. Thus far the data indicate no readily apparent differences in growth, temperature tolerance or differences in isoelectric focusing analyses of blood serum.

Additional culture studies will examine the nutrient cycling in red drum fingerling production ponds to gain a better understanding of the interactions between major nutrients and trophic dynamic relationships leading to fish production. This information should provide insights into current pond fertilization practices and may suggest possible adjustments. Other studies will examine growth at different temperatures and salinities and mortality rates under simulated winter-freeze conditions. A red drum culture manual, in preparation, is intended to provide a single source document for routine culture of red drum fingerlings.

TAGGING
Texas Parks and Wildlife Department continues to tag red drum taken in gill nets set during a coastwide monitoring program. Since the program began in 1975, over 23,000 red drum have been tagged. Returns have averaged about 300 per year. Data from the returned fish have been used to describe movements of red drum, estimate survival of immature red drum, help validate the use of scales for aging red drum and model growth.

A study has begun to evaluate survival and tag retention by juveniles tagged with coded magnetic wire tags. Binary coded magnetic nose tags placed in hatchery-reared juvenile red drum will provide information on the reliability of this tagging method and survival of fish when stocked in Texas bays.

Young Hawks rack up two wins

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock North Central's Hawk junior varsity B-team has remained undefeated by taking a 28-13 victory over St. Martin this week.

According to Coach Joe Shaw, Guy Graham started the first half scoring with a touchdown on a five-yard run.

Clifton Carter added a two-point conversion on a running play to give the Hawks a seven-point lead.

The Hawks increase their first half score to 14-13 with a touchdown on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Casey Davis to Audie Sims, Shaw said.

In second half action, Carter scored on a 63-yard run. The Hawks added another six points on a 37-yard pass from Davis to Taurus Jackson, then added a two-point conversion on a pass from Davis to Graham.

The victory increases the B-team's season record to four wins, no losses and one tie, Shaw added.

The next B-team game will be Nov. 2 at 6:30 at St. Stanislaus.

In addition, the Hawks defeated St. Martin 20-6 in a seventh and eighth grade game.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Hawks posted six points in the second quarter on a 10-yard pass from Jeff Favre to John Wilkerson.

In second half action, Favre scored on a one-yard run to increase the Hawk lead to 12-0.

St. Martin scored in the fourth quarter on a one-yard run by Jason Davies.

The Hawks rallied with a touchdown on a 40-yard run by Favre, followed up by a successful two-point conversion attempt on a pass from Favre to Dennis Malley, leaving the final score at 20-6.

The victory was the fourth consecutive win for the seventh and eighth grade Hawks, who have a 4-2 season record.

Shaw said the team dropped its first two games, 14-6 to Pearl River Central and 22-16 to Gulfview.

The teams wins have included 22-0 over Long Beach, 14-6 over Pearl River Central, 12-6 over St. Stanislaus and 20-6 over St. Martin.

Shaw said the seventh and eighth grade Hawks have scored a total of 90 points so far and have given up 54 points.

The team will travel to Pearl-Long Monday to take on C.B. Murphy at 5 p.m., Shaw added.

BILLY BOOMERS

HATTIESBURG—University of Southern Mississippi punter Billy Knighten kicked five times for 208 yards in Saturday's 18-14 win over Mississippi State.

That total included a 58-yard kick, and the Montgomery, Ala., native also drew a roughing the kicker penalty late in the game that allowed the Golden Eagles to retain possession of the ball and run out the clock.

His 1987 totals stand at 37 kicks for 1,441 yards, and his career stats show 225 for 9,191 yards. His long punt this season was a 58 yarder (that came in the Mississippi State game) and his career long stands at 83 yards.

Knighten's career marks place him second behind Mike Wright and Bruce Thompson (237) in number of total punts, and his 9,191 career yards puts him third on the total yardage list behind Wright (9,741) and Thompson (9,517).

Knighten needs 13 kicks to move into first place.

St. Clare student wins in Jackson tennis

Kellie Murray, a St. Clare Elementary School student, has but a single ambition at this point in time—becoming the very best tennis player that she can be.

KELLIE MURRAY

Player of The Week

By EDGAR H. PEREZ

St. Stanislaus High School sophomore Shannon Garrett is the Player of The Week for the Rockchaws.

Program sponsors, Loiacano's Health Club of Bay St. Louis and Rick's Trophies of Waveland, report Garrett scored the highest consistency grade on game film evaluation.

Against Riverdale of New Orleans, Garrett is credited with eight unassisted tackles.

"Shannon runs the ball well, blocks and is an excellent pass receiver," the sponsors stated.

Horace Lizana, a senior quarterback for the Pass Christian Pirates, took the outstanding honors this week on his squad after completing five of 15 passes for 73 yards, plus an additional 55 yards on ten carries.

Lizana is credited with six tackles on defense in the Pirates 21-6 loss to Pearl River Central.

Tailback David Williams of the Coast Episcopal Raiders did an excellent job blocking, scored three touchdowns and picked up 150 yards rushing.

Included in his outstanding effort was a kickoff return all the way for a score.

Offensive lineman Marty Smith, a junior at Hancock North Central, is the Player of the Week at that institution.

Smith was graded highest on the offensive line in game film evaluations, the sponsors reported.

"He did a good job trap blocking and zoning."

"Smith made one excellent trap block for a long gain and did a good job blocking all night as Hancock beat Long Beach 55-9," the sponsors stated.

Bay High Tigers were off last week and will meet the St. Martin Yellow Jackets this week in Jackson County.

SHANNON GARRETT

Murray rode the strength of her penetrating forehand groundstroke to take top honors in the 10-year-old division of the recent Mississippi Tennis Association Fall Circuit Tournament at the Parnahm Bridges Tennis Facility in Jackson.

Despite having to overcome two set points against her in the first set of the final round, Murray was able to win nine of the next ten games which enabled her to complete a string of straight-set victories extending through the finals.

She won the final round by a 7-5, 6-1 score over Kathryn Harper of Jackson.

"That was Murray's first title in a sanctioned tournament but definitely not her last," said her coach, Myron Labat.

"Kellie works hard daily on all phases of her game and just as soon as we can turn her first serve into a weapon, she could really be a force to be reckoned with in the older age divisions," Labat said.

Murray next will test her skills on clay at the River Hills Tennis Club in Jackson and will again face some of the top juniors in the state.

Diamondhead Country Club Pro Phil Hill has verified three holes-in-one within three days, all on the club's Cardinal Course.

Bernie Johnson, a member of the Diamondhead Ladies 18-hole Golfers, shot her hole-in-one Saturday on the seventh hole of the course.

The hole-in-one, for which she used a five wood, was Johnson's first.

Witness were Vi Kirk, Doris Willson and Bonnie Coughtry.

On the same day, Pros Potin of Diamondhead used a three wood to score his first hole-in-one, a shot of 159 yards on the Par 3 No. 17.

Witness to the hole-in-one was the golfer's wife, Dolly Potin.

Two days earlier, Ray Hope had used a King nine iron for a hole-in-one witnessed by Roy Clark and Bill Connelly.

He aced the 148-yard Par 3 fourth hole.

Hill said he does not consider three holes-in-one in three days an unusual occurrence given the number of people who use the Diamondhead courses.

The most recent prior hole-in-one on the course had been scored on the 17th hole by E.J. Smith, Sept. 10.

The shot, for a distance of 126 yards, was hit with a driver. Witnesses included Pat Powell, Nancy Sayre and Lee Arnold.

The hole-in-one was the first for Smith, a member of the Diamondhead Ladies 18-hole Golfers.

Sit back and listen to a ferry tale.

It was the dawn of the 20th Century, and South Mississippi was well on its way to becoming a busy center of trade and commerce.

A new invention called the automobile was making its debut, and causing quite a stir. But even cars couldn't shorten the tough two-day journey from Henderson Point around to Bay St. Louis.

So Hancock Bank stepped forward and helped finance the purchase of a new ferry. One that could safely and quickly cross the Bay of St. Louis with up to 20 cars and all their excited passengers as well.

Later, the bank was trustee for a modern four-lane bridge that stretches from one side of the Bay to the other. Thousands of cars cross it every day.

But a lot of folks fondly remember that ferry, and how much easier it made life for families in South Mississippi.

From the earliest days of its existence,

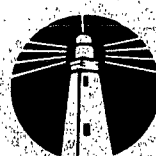

Hancock Bank has looked ahead to what South Mississippi could be. And we've provided the personal service and monetary means to make it possible.

We've helped bridge financial gaps for growing businesses. And helped families find shortcuts to their dreams.

That's the commitment we share with you. And it's one we'll never forget.

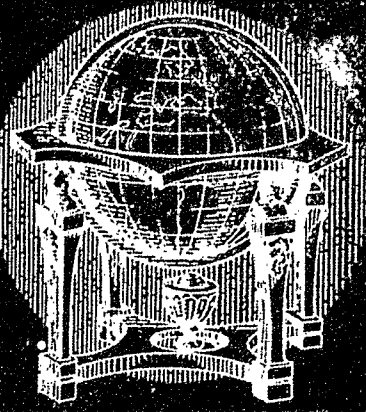

We're Hancock Bank. And since 1899 we've been making it possible in South Mississippi.

Tiger reunion committee engages Swing Era band

The committee of former Bay High students planning a reunion Dec. 5 at Bay Waveland Yacht Club have engaged veteran band leader Art Cissell and his renowned 18-piece "Stardusters" orchestra to play from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Cissell and his orchestra specialize in popular music from the 30's and 40's.

Former Bay High students are expected from all over the world at the 7:30 p.m. gala evening.

"It is not a class reunion but a gathering of those who attended Bay High during the years from 1935

Reservations should be made at once so plans can be completed for a memorable evening, Murphy added.

The spokesman for the reunion requests names and addresses of old classmates, friends and teachers to assure that no one has been overlooked.

Cash bar and hors d'oeuvres are planned.

Special door prizes have been given by Coast merchants, including Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) The assistance you need from superiors is yours for the taking now. However, before presenting your proposal, recheck all your facts and figures.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're feeling rather chipper now, so call some good chums and go have some fun. Since finances are looking up, you can really splurge on yourself.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Organize your time so that you can see and do all you want to. If you set up a schedule and adhere to it, you should have no recreational problems.

Mississippi expects education funds

Senator Thad Cochran says Mississippi could get up to 10 or 12 percent more funds in FY 1989 under a Senate committee bill for elementary and secondary education programs.

The senator said Mississippi received about $75 million in formula-based programs during FY 1987, but the Elementary and Secondary Education Act amendments reported out of committee should give the state 10 to 12 percent more in formula-based programs.

He noted these are programs such as Title I and Title II, impact aid, and adult education.

Cochran serves on the Labor and Human Resources Committee, which unanimously approved the ESEA amendments bill this week.

"I am pleased that our committee bill should result in Mississippi educational programs covered by these formulas gaining from $7.5 to $9 million more funds in the 1989 fiscal year," he commented.

"The Elementary and Secondary Education Act programs are vitally important to Mississippi, in helping our state and local educators have adequate funding to operate these programs and provide good educational opportunities for thousands of students," Cochran said.

The ESEA bill authorizes $6.91 billion for a wide range of federally-funded education programs during FY 1989, an increase over the $6.03 billion authorized in the just-ended FY 1987.

Cochran pointed out Mississippi would also receive other funds from discretionary funding under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, "but those are programs and projects the local or state officials must formulate and specifically apply for, and receive the approval of the U.S. Department of Education."

The senator said he would continue working to see that smaller, poorer states such as Mississippi "receive the fairest treatment possible in the formula-based programs, since our needs are so great and our own resources so limited."

Fantasy Productions celebrates tenth anniversary

Fantasy productions recently celebrated its tenth anniversary. Most teenagers in the area have seen them, as well as many adults who have been to class reunions or wedding receptions at which music was provided by fantasy.

Fantasy Productions, a portable sound and light dance entertainment system, was the brainchild of Mike Gemelli, a local high school teacher. Ten years ago, Gemelli was a math instructor at Hancock North Central High School, and was in charge of booking bands for homecoming and prom activities. "We always had the biggest problem getting first-class bands," said Gemelli. "I'd have to deal with their booking agents, and after hearing how great the band was, we would and drew up the idea for Fantasy.

We wanted to incorporate three ideas: a great, clean sound that didn't have to be loud to be good; lighting effects so people could dance comfortably; and continuous, non-stop music so the crowd would not lose interest and wander away.

Most of the electronic equipment that Fantasy purchased came as a result of talking to technicians who set up portable systems for big conventions in New Orleans.

"I wanted to have the best music system that could be put together on a portable basis. And for a unique special effect we built two fog machines."

Looking back, Gemelli shakes his head when he thinks of the large investment he had to make for Fantasy Productions to become a reality.

"My first concern was to put together a quality show that people would enjoy. I knew it could be done, but I hadn't seen anybody do it."

Gemelli became the first disc-jockey, and Cowart ran the light show and the fog machines. The dance at HNC was a huge success, and word of mouth began to spread.

Teaching was Gemelli's profession, and he looked upon Fantasy as something fun to do on weekends.

After a few months, Gemelli began to get calls from all kinds of social groups asking about using Fantasy. People wanted Fantasy for fund-raising dances, class reunions, wedding receptions, private parties, and background music for conventions.

"Fantasy has played in some very interesting situations," said Gemelli. "Once we played for a group of deaf people in Gulfport. They kept right in time with the music by feeling the driving punch of our bass speakers."

"On another occasion, Brother Benet called and told me St Stanislaus was sponsoring a 'Mr. Physique' contest for bodybuilders that would be covered by NBC Sportsworld, and he wanted us to have our fog machines operating so that the lifters looked like they were posing on clouds. It was fantastic!"

Fantasy has played all over the Coast for almost every high school. Most of the Gulfport and Biloxi area schools have their dances at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum.

After the first two years, Gemelli turned over the disc-jockey duties to Zachary Ladner a student whom Gemelli taught at Hancock North Central.

"Zach had a natural talent for mixing the right records and he had a fine speaking voice. What I didn't find out until later was that Zachary would invite all his friends over for his birthday and spin records for them all night."

Soon Ladner's younger brother, Lenny, started coming to the dances and began to run the light show.

"Zachary and Lenny were the best," said Gemelli, "so I eased out and concentrated on watching the overall operation in case anything went wrong during the show."

After college, Zachary went to work in the electronics department at Ingalls Shipyard and Lenny became Fantasy's disc jockey. Fantasy Productions has remained a close knit group of friends, as two other Ladner brothers, Aric and Regan, have come to help out with the light show.

"Probably the biggest reason why we have all been together for so long is that we enjoy being around each other. Nobody has gotten a big head. We know we have a fine system, and over the years we keep refining our show to keep up with the times."

The skyrocketing costs of albums and dry ice to run the fog machines has amazed Gemelli.

"When we began, we paid $3.49 for an album. Now, it's $9.29. At the present time we have over 2,000 albums in our library. If we play for an adult function, like the New Year's Eve Party for the Diamondhead Tennis Association, we'll bring a lot more '50's, country, and easy-listening music."

"I feel the secret to our success is to remember that we are there to please the people we are playing for. That means that we play what they want to hear. And I think playing the right combination of music is important, because once people leave the dance floor it is hard to get them back."

Since the beginning of Fantasy, several local portable disco's have sprung up along the Coast, but none are of the magnitude of Fantasy. There is even a group in Hattiesburg called "Fantasy Mobile Unit."

Gemelli sees a bright future for Fantasy Productions. "Up until now, I have never advertised our group, but at recent dances a lot of people have come up and told me they had never heard of us. So I guess its time to start letting people know about us."

Dancers boogie to the sounds of Fantasy

Fantasy's Disc Jockey Lenny Ladner selects the next number to keep the dancers moving book them and pay $800 or more, expecting a fine performance."

"Most of the time, however, the kids were disappointed. The bands would not play what we wanted to hear, and the sound would be extremely loud and unbalanced. And then the band would take three 20-minute breaks during their show, so students were leaving all the time."

Homecoming, 1977, at Hancock was the final straw for Gemelli. "The kids wanted to try a 'disco' set-up, so we called a radio station in Biloxi. They charged us $300 and showed up with a small cassette player and two desk-top miniature speakers. Needless to say the dance was a flop."

Over that weekend, Fantasy Productions was born. Gemelli got together with John Cowart, a local electronic technician and mechanic, Listen To Your Body!

If something's going wrong, it may be trying to tell you something...

1. Frequent Headaches
2. Stiffness of Neck
3. Pain between Shoulders
4. Painful Joints
5. Backache
6. Pain in Arms or Legs
7. Numbness in Hands or Feet
8. Nervousness
9. Cold Hands
10. Leg or Foot Cramps

These 10 warning signals may be caused by pinched nerves and respond to modern CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT. Delay tends to cause many conditions to grow worse. If you have 1 or more of these symptoms, call for information or an appointment.
